Report writing: A Concise Reproach

IJEOMA J. AMAJUOYI, EME U. JOSEPH

PREFACE

Compulsorily, students at tertiary levels of education are expected to submit an empirical research report to their institutions as their contribution to knowledge and literary presentation. Unfortunately, beginners in research find it very difficult to carry out investigation effectively and to articulate a research report hence, this book; Research Report Writing: A Concise Approach is designed to respond to this need.

The text is meant for undergraduate and graduate students of the universities, polytechnics and colleges of education and supervisors of students' projects, dissertations and theses and researchers as a whole. The present text is packaged to reflect all the sections of academic research report with explanations and examples of what the researcher is expected to put down. Therefore, it carries preliminary section, main body which consists of five chapters then, references and appendices. We are persuaded that a contentious study and application of the content of this book will be very rewarding.
